Navi Mumbai: A few women entrepreneurs, who have formed the group Grooming Babies, are hosting an event to celebrate the bond between grandparents and grandchildren on Saturday at Neral's Wonders Park.

The team hopes to engage, educate and entertain children and their grandparents.

"We have organized events like this earlier and the response has been overwhelming. However, previously it was held in Mumbai and this time we thought of bringing it to Navi Mumbai," said Prana Saradhya from the group.

During Saturday's event, children and their grandparents can enjoy playing games, listen to puppet stories, explore grandma's kitchen, engage with art, learn to weave, dance, strum a guitar, plant saplings, make clay toys, build lego blocks, learn things about technology and science.

"At the picture corner, the grandparents and children need to exchange roles and dress like each other. The idea is that both the generations can witness and learn something from each other's world," she added. The activities planned for the evening is being curated keeping in mind the preferences and physical abilities of young children and elderly citizens, said Saradhya.
